

"The Ottawa Spotlight"

(By Spectator)

A Weekly Review of National Affairs
Ottawa, Aug. 4th.—In a very short time now regular mail services by air will be in operation from Montreal to Vancouver. Since March the Western section of the transcontinental airways from Winnipeg to Vancouver has been operating; there are now two regular daily flights across the prairies and the Rockies. With the receipt of planes that have been on order for some time and which are expected shortly the regular service will be extended eastward to Montreal. Opening flights across this section have already been made. The minister of transport, Mr. Howe took part in one of these flights on his way to the west for a tour of inspection of airports, equipment and personnel. The next step will be putting the finishing touches on airports, both in Eastern Quebec and the Maritimes. It is likely that before the end of the year air services will be established between the Atlantic and the Pacific. Mail from Halifax will be delivered in Vancouver in about 20 hours.

The recent test flight of the Mercury was a further step in transatlantic aviation, bringing the hour nearer when London Mail will be despatched regularly by air to Canada. The time is not distant when mails from the mother country will reach the west coast in about two days. In the future this time will probably be considerably shortened.

The Trans-Canada air line with its 80 to 90 equipped airports will be an important link in the British Commonwealth and world air routes. It will give us no stretch of the imagination to visualize airlines ultimately operating from Vancouver to the Southern Pacific Dominions and other lands through the Northwest territories, the Yukon and Alaska to the Orient. The Northwestern route is the shortest way from Northern Europe to the Orient. It will be recalled that the Hughes world circling trip of a couple of weeks ago followed this route from Siberia to New York.

The British Air Mission

It may be some little time before a definite announcement is made of the result of the conversations between the air mission and Canadian aircraft manufacturers on the purchase of aircraft for the R. A. F. in Canada. The members of the mission have not arrived for some time. Mr. P. Handley Page, British industrialist having reached this country on Thursday last with his private financial adviser to the air ministry, to be joined later here by Sir Harold Lever, head of the mission. It has been for a few days in the United States. An important member of the mission Sir Edward Dillingham, air marshal, is on his way to British Columbia. He will reach the country on August 6th. He will meet the Minister of national defence. After conversations of members of the mission with Mr. Mackenzie and officials of the national defence department who will make available information which the department has compiled of facilities in Canada for the manufacture of aircraft, the British visitors will carry on their negotiations with the manufacturers. Air vice marshal W. A. Bishop, distinguished aviator in the great war has been one of those welcoming the visitors and aiding in the discussions. It is confidently expected that the visit of the mission will result in the signing of long term contracts of some magnitude with the Canadian aircraft industry.

Commander J. M. Robb of the Royal Air Force is also in Canada to discuss the question of training R. A. F. pilots in Canada. He will probably conduct air training camps at Brandon, Trenton and elsewhere in Canada. When he has made his survey of facilities available, and if it concurred that the plan is feasible, all matters relating to the schools and the establishment of this services within the framework of the national defence department will be fully discussed with officials of that department. Negotiations for the arrangement will then be carried out through the regular diplomatic channels.

The fixed price for wheat

Announcement will be made on August 4th after a meeting of the cabinet, of the price at which the grain board will purchase wheat from the farmers during the coming crop year. With the wheat exported from most grain growing countries of the Northern hemisphere, there is uncertainty about future wheat prices. Canada will be putting strong competition during the autumn and early winter months. From the United States, the Canadian countries and possibly from Russia, while later Argentina and Australia will enter the market. There are certain factors however favorable to Canada in world markets. There are the quality and grading of this country's wheat. The bulk of the best spring wheat as well as the best hard Kansas winter wheat in the United States is used by domestic mills. The percentage of the higher grades available for export is smaller than in Canada. Russian wheat is sold by samples and shipments are not so uniform as shipments from Canada. However excess of supply compared with import requirements is a heavy influence on the market, which Canada as an exporting country must feel.

INTERESTING DEMONSTRATION BY CALGARY POWER CO.

Thursday and Friday last a very interesting demonstration of an electrically equipped kitchen given by the Calgarey Power Co. in the kitchen in which the entire equipment was electric. Ranges, electric ovens, cake makers, a full sized refrigerator, a stainless steel sink, electric washer, iron, toaster, waffle iron, etc. were the only of the many visitors who attended the lectures held yesterday. Three young ladies were in charge and the demonstrations were shown and explained in a very pleasant manner. Certainly these new inventions would prove a joy to the housewife. Mr. Robinson and George Timbony of the Calgarey Power Company, were in charge.

INGLEWOOD GUESTS OF STRATHMORE GOLF CLUB

Sunday was a very nice and interesting day on the local golf course when the Inglewood golf fans paid a return visit to Strathmore. Sixteen ladies and ten local members took part in the contest. Mrs. Royal Eaton of the Inglewood club, captained the party. About 75 refreshments were served by the club. Mrs. Brown proprietress of Chie's Canteen.

Critic.—The picture of the horse is good, but where's the wagon?
Artist.—Oh, the horse will draw that.

NORTH-WEST GRAIN DEALERS RE WHEAT PRICE

Mr. Geo. H. Melvor, Chief Commissioner, The Canadian Wheat Board, Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Dear Sir,
We understand from recent Press reports that the minimum price for the current crop year for wheat will be determined and announced by your Board and the Government in the next week or ten days.

Our Association placed in evidence before the recent meeting of the Emergency Committee the following:
Volume 1, page 26: "At this point I may state that my clients' endeavors while wholly worthy of commendation, and that they are to be commended for the granting of support as long as any conditions, either National or International, exist, or that they render that relief and that support necessary for the maintenance of adequate living standards for farmers and their families." And again, Volume 1, page 26: "If the deliberations of this committee are to have the constructive effect which it is desired we believe that it should consider the economic position of the Western farmer in the national household in any enquiry directed towards these ends and in any movement to ameliorate this position, I am instructed to state that my clients will wholeheartedly join."

In the hope of this Association that the Government will consider the highest possible minimum price consistent with the welfare of the Dominion, and that it will be so reported from most grain growing countries of the Northern hemisphere,

BAINTREE FARMER CELEBRATES HIS BIRTHDAY

The afternoon of July 27, witnessed a large number of people assembled at the home of Mr. Patrick J. Baintree, to celebrate the birth of his son, having attained the ripe old age of 58. Although the flight of time has passed the cheerfulness and good spirit which have marked his past many difficult, and endeared him to a host of friends.

Born in Ireland in 1850, Mr. Lyons sailed with his parents as a small boy to the U. S. A. The journey over the Atlantic lasting nearly 2 months.

During his long residence in the State of Connecticut, he was engaged in the dairy business, and also served a number of terms as official assessor of the town of Litchfield.

Arriving in the Baintree district with his son, William A. in 1911, he later took over the place on which he now lives, and since that time, from active work enjoyed the reputation of being a first class agriculturist.

Festivities and lovely gifts came from many quarters, all of which brought pleasure to the venerable gentleman on his natal day.

EPIDEMIC AMONG HORSES INCREASES IN THE DISTRICT

Dr. George Koch reports the horse disease is on the increase and a large number proving fatal.

He received 200 doses of Vaccine Wednesday and is using it effectively. It comes like the last straws, added, that this trouble should come just at this season, and it is to be hoped it will soon be conquered.

It is thought the virus is spread by mosquitoes and a spray of one third blue tar, one third coal oil, well mixed, then like the last straws, added, sprayed lightly on the horses, will keep away mosquitoes, flies, etc., and thus prevent the infection.

SHOWER FOR BRIDE-EGG

Miss Louane Bower was again the guest of honor Tuesday evening, when Miss Dorothy Collops and Miss Alice Garrett arranged a delightful Pyrex and kitchen social at the home of the latter. The guests included the girl friends of the bride-egg.

Bride was played at five tables and much merriment, as well as some keen games prevailed. Holders of highest honor were Edith Hirtle and Mary Bellinger.

Following choice refreshments a huge tea kettle decorated in cream and red, the bride-egg, was brought in which contained a large assortment of useful articles needed in every well equipped kitchen. The presentation was a delightful surprise on behalf of the guests in a humorous little speech. Louane replied in pleasing manner.

A jolly social hour followed before the party parted their several ways homeward.

A FARMER'S MUSINGS

(By Tim Longbotham)

If any of you farmers see a skunk without a tail running around, it belongs to a neighbor of ours.

This fall was moving weeds close to an irrigation ditch when the creature hopped onto the cutting bar and stopped the machine through its tail becoming wedged in the bar.

Last seen the skunk was hitting across the pasture at an estimate speed of 90 miles an hour and was looking behind as though annoyed about something.

Now that one of our prominent S. C. officials has stated that dividends will start to move before very long, wouldn't it be nice if Mr. Abernethy to send all the farmers a few of the twenty-fives in advance?

Harvest time brings a lot of expense and cost of the realm is a pretty scarce commodity in many rural homes at this time of the year.

The hope that "springs eternal" in the hearts of human beings manifests itself in many strange ways.

A friend, who is a conservative of the most faithful kind insists that his party will be returned to power at the next provincial election.

Don't you think that this ladle ought to be crowned King of the opium? He says that the other parties have nothing but guff to offer, and for that reason, the folks will be glad to fall back on the conservatives for good government.

Very enlightening, eh?

The oft repeated excuse of Japanese being conducted for the good of the natives, is now being used by one of Mussolini's officers in Spain.

This is a nice way of explaining a difficult situation, but we hope that none of our neighbors will ever demonstrate their goodwill by heaving a bomb onto the roof of our old shack.

We'd appreciate this action as much as the Chinese and Spanish loyalists do the presence of the invaders with in their territory. In fact, we'd react for the family blunderbuss in great haste, even although our falling eyelids would prevent us from hitting a barn door at a distance of 50 paces.

Lots of you guys would also react in the same fashion to the approach of self styled benefactors who should an intense desire to bump you off the map.

If a report in an old country journal was founded on fact the hazardous game of running a blockade is just as profitable as ever. By safely delivering a cargo of war material in a Spanish submarine port an English ship paid for itself in one journey while the officers and crew received handsome bonuses for the risks they took.

Quite a few British merchants have gone to the bottom in Spanish seas very lately, but Mr. Chamberlain has followed the right course in declining to involve the nation in war over this matter.

The men who navigated their ships into dangerous waters did so with the hope of earning big rewards, and if ill luck attended their efforts they had nobody to blame but themselves.

Lots of folks who had their patriotic feelings aroused by the sinkings failed to recognize this part of the situation.

Although a considerable number of intelligent people favour the cautious policy which Canadian Statesmen have followed during the past decade, there are others who continue to view this attitude with profound regret. To the writer the worst feature of the situation has been the neglect of the youthful Canadians who had the misfortune to be born within the last generation.

Every year a large number of boys and girls leave educational institutions without hope of finding employment and in consequence, are doomed to idleness for their efforts.

Other nations have tackled the problem in a vigorous fashion and been well rewarded for their efforts.

Improved highways are urgently needed in both east and west; denuded forest lands are crying out for replanting and according to noted authorities, the mineral wealth of the country has only been scratched on the surface. Then why not spend money on worth while projects and thereby preserve our young men from the mental and physical deterioration which ever follows in the wake of enforced idleness?

The National Treasury can always find huge sums to bolster up a bankrupt National Railway System; also provide handsome pensions for men who enjoyed large salaries throughout their active careers, and, worse still, pay for a lot of pomp and ceremony which has nothing to do with good government.

If the nation can indulge in luxuries of this kind, surely it is not unreasonable to suggest that the young men should be given a better chance in the great game of life.

LOOK at the RECORD OF CASE THRESHERS AND COMBINES

"My Case thresher has threshed every year since 1904, and it continues as it has in the past, it will do me for the rest of my farming days," writes W. L. Burnham of Saskatchewan. "I have found it very light running, easy to operate, and it always did a good clean job."

Ever since 1892 Case threshers have been famous for simplicity, easy operation, clean work, light running, long life and low upkeep. Case combines have the same sturdy quality, many of the same features, and similar records of superiority. No wonder there are so many Case threshers and combines in use throughout the Dominion. Don't take chances of delays or wasted grain with an old, worn thresher or an ordinary combine. Go to your Case dealer now and see how much time, money, and power you can save with a modern Case machine. Whether you prefer a thresher or a combine, Case gives you a close-cumming all-steel cylinder and concaves . . . non-chugging steel-finger grates . . . steel grid straw rack . . . air-lift cleaning . . . simpler adjustments for all crops and conditions.

STILL PIONEERING

Leadership demands constant pioneering—discovering and developing the new and better method of doing the things we have to do.

Time was when the introduction of a new implement was a memorable and historic event, but these were the early days in the application of mechanics to farming operations. Today, changes succeed each other with greater rapidity and even the most revolutionary innovations are accepted with little acclimation.

Not in any period of the ninety years of Massey-Harris history has such skill been employed in the designing and developing of machines for the farm as there is today. The Company's engineers, in their extensive field experiments, are constantly testing new ideas and developing, under actual conditions, machines and attachments specifically suited to the requirements of the territory for which they are intended.

Thus, whether it be a one-handed walking plow to be used by a native, and even perhaps drawn by natives, on the South African veldt; a power-driven mower to cope with the luxuriant growth of grass on an English meadow, or the One-Way Disc Seeder developed to help the farmer on the prairies of Western Canada combat soil drifting, it is the result of definite scientific research by the Company's field engineers.

And in the motorized mechanization that is taking place in farming operations, Massey-Harris is in the forefront, still pioneering in bringing to farmers the latest developments in Tractors, Combines and other power equipment.

WHAT A MAD WORLD!

Just when conditions in Europe assumed a more peaceful outlook, Japan attacks Russia in an air raid and Russia strikes back. Now Japan says it depends on the Russian attitude whether a major war will be averted. It will be well if Russia follows the attitude adopted by Prime Minister Chamberlain in averting war.

VETERANS ANNUAL GATHERING IN TORONTO

Saturday Conservative Leader Manion played ball, the teams being made up of men with whom he had served in France in the Great War. Approximately 10,000 men who had worn the Maple Leaf in France and Belgium, 1914 to 1918, gathered in Toronto for the three-day reunion. The dedication of a Grove of Trees was the most impressive event of the gathering.

Conservation Park is a level stretch of land, recently reclaimed from Lake Ontario at the eastern entrance to the Canadian National Exhibition grounds. In it a grove of trees was planted a year ago, a central oak representing the crown, a circle of maples around it representing the component parts of the Empire. Just outside this circle three trees are planted in a triangle to represent the three branches of the Imperial forces military, naval and air.

The spread over more than two acres of ground is the grove of maples, each dedicated to one of the units of the Canadian Corps, each with a plaque beneath bearing the name. Plaques at all the trees were unveiled simultaneously last Monday as Sir William Mulock, former Chief Justice of Ontario, gave the signal. Scott Speaks

The assembly of veterans pledging themselves to the service of the nation and the maintenance of democracy would set an example to those who foolishly preached the doctrines of Communism and dictatorship said Sir William. These doctrines would in fact be a foothold in Canada while the spirit of the Canadian Corps and that spirit would live as long as Canada was a nation.

Archdeacon P. G. Scott of Quebec

beloved padre of the troops overseas who conducted the drumhead service of the reunion Sunday pronounced a blessing and spoke briefly. The young trees were a fitting symbol of the high ideals of the Corps, said the chaplain. They reached upward to heaven.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By H. L. G. Strange Director "Crop Testing Plan"

This is a proud year for one of the oldest and parent races of white people in the World. I mean our good friends the Swedes.

1938 is the 300th anniversary of the first settlement of the Swedish people on the American continent. They have since successfully colonized large areas in the United States and in Canada.

Telling the great Roman historian, in 68 A. D., just 1540 years ago, wrote of the sturdy Swedes under a strong king, cultivating wheat and other products of the soil with industry and patience.

Intelligent hard workers, good citizens and loyal kindly friends, the Swedish people have added much to the wealth of the United States and Canada, and so have enhanced the welfare of the people.

It is interesting to note too, that 1938 is also the 160th anniversary of the death of the great Swedish botanist, Linnaeus, who originated an entirely new method for the classification of plants; which new method helped much towards the improvement of all farm crops. So, Swedish men, true to the heritage left by Linnaeus, today is one of the World's greatest plant breeding institutions. From Sweden came Victory oats, so much prized in Canada.

So hats off this year, 1938, to the Swedes in token of their fine accomplishments, and say aloud to them whenever the opportunity offers!

HERE AND THERE WITH WORLD-KNOWN MEN

Earl Baldwin, Former Prime Minister of Britain
Addressing a gathering at the Astor Flower Show on the grounds of his Worcestershire home, the "Sage of Bewdley" said.

"One wonders if there ever will be sufficient sanity in this world between nations when they will cease to make larger guns and instead will compete with each other in growing the biggest onions. It would be a wiser world and would serve a more useful purpose."

Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm

Dorn, The Netherlands—The 24th anniversary of Imperial Germany's declaration of war against Russia on Monday found one of that drastic step's chief protagonists, Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm II, an exile interested more in his family than in political reminiscence.

Anniversary of the fateful day—one of the steps which cost him his throne—passed without observance by the Ex-Kaiser, who will be 80 years old January 27th.

New one of his chief diversions is reading letters and clippings recording the progress of his grandson in his wedding trip around the world.

R. B. Bennett interviewed by Reporters

One of the most satisfactory developments in this territory in recent years is the discovery of large pools of crude oil in Turner Valley he said. "A great deal of interest is being manifested in these oil discoveries in Eastern Canada."

"It is a pity that it is not understood, I would like to give the impression to all who are interested in development of the oil field in this territory that it is necessary to under-estimate rather than overestimate present production" he declared.

While Mr. Bennett declined to discuss more fully "overestimation of production," he said if production of the field increases to the extent anticipated in some cases the problem of transportation to the great Canadian markets is not incapable of solution.

THE SPORTS LEDGER

It is interesting to note the different racial attitudes taken in regard to sport. For instance in Japan where boxing has gained much popularity recently it is common for 5 knock-outs to occur on an 8 bout card. The Japanese fighter never gives up, his seconds never tries to throw towels nor does the referee ever stop the bloody slaughter.

Probably the most unique part of Japanese sports is in the grandstand.
The Japanese fan will get hysterical with excitement but he never shows it by throwing hats, peanuts, popcorn or bottles, he never takes it out on the fellow beside him. Winning he is frantic with joy, losing he sits with a blank face, burning inwardly but unusually stolid and traditionally polite.

Sandy Semoville previous Canadian Amateur golfing Champion lost his title to Ted Adams 21 years old teacher from Columbia, Mo.

Cam Burke has just been signed up to play for Calgary in the 38-39 season. Burke is a flashy skating forward and will be a welcome addition to Calgary puckchasing ranks.
He played in the Nockle Bell league last season.

Mrs. Norton Barry, age 70, former Irish tennis champion, entered a tournament lately and showed remarkable vigor although she lost 6-2, 2-6 and 6-3.

Donnell paid the biggest in the history of the Louisville, Kentucky bribe. A ticket of $2.00 on him netted $18,490, when he won in 1912.
